CAIRO, Jan. 11.—While heavy calibre British siege guns incessantly pounded the encircled Italian base of Tobruk, British armored units today pushed westward into Libya as far as the Gazala region.

Reports from the sand-swept front indicated the mechanized forces were meeting little opposition. Italian troops were reported dropping back on all fronts with a minimum of resistance.

Latest moves by the British army indicated that the high command is seeking to drive straight across the Province of Cyrenaica to the Gulf of Sidra, 400 miles west of the Egyptian frontier, in an attempt to isolate both Tobruk and Benghazi.

The force now surrounding Tobruk, according to Cairo military circles, has reached such dimensions that all Italian hope of retreat must be abandoned.

PA NEW OBSERVES

New Castle's school kiddies had the time of their lives last evening, enjoying winter's pleasures. With no lessons to get for the morning, they were out in large numbers on almost every hill in the city, sledding. Motorists should exercise more than ordinary care today in order that they may avoid injuring some of these youthful enthusiasts.

For several evenings, the wild birds, mostly sparrows, have been meeting for their evening chatter, amid the branches of the trees in the park, on the Diamond. Possibly, during one of these meetings, they have expressed a vote of thanks to the "city fathers" for leaving the "Christmas" pine bushes, fastened to poles, hoping they will be left there all winter. They make splendid shelter for the birds, these cold nights.

About seven o'clock, Friday evening, traffic was held up for a while, at the approach down the hill of East Washington street, snow having begun to fall. About half a dozen trucks hesitated to venture into the drivers investigated the condition of the street, and held a consultation. Later, the trucks "crept" carefully down the hill.

Have you made your remittance for your Christmas Seals? It isn't too late to send the money for seals to the Lawrence County Tuberculosis Society office, 219 Lawrence Savings & Trust Company Building.

Many motorists left the Jefferson street hill with dented fenders Friday night. Traffic was badly tied up and skidding was prevalent as motorists attempted to go up and down the hill before ashes were spread.

Repairs which must be necessary the opening of the street at the intersection.

Portsmouth Is Given Terrific Aerial Pasting By Nazi Bomb Squads

PORTSMOUTH, Eng., Jan. 11.—Causing wide destruction to houses and buildings, including six churches, and killing and injuring as yet uncounted victims, Nazi raiders last night and early this morning gave this important British seaport and naval base a terrific aerial pasting.

For hours after the raiders departed British authorities insisted that the attacked city be described merely as an English south coast town. But early this afternoon they permitted its identification as Portsmouth.

British Naval Base
Portsmouth is one of the more important British naval bases on the south coast.

In last night's attack, which continued well into the early hours of this morning, the German raiders rained down a veritable hail of high explosive and incendiary bombs.

The attack appeared to be a deliberate effort to level Portsmouth in an all-out aerial blitz such as the British manufacturing town of Coventry suffered weeks ago.

Many fires were started, many buildings were damaged and numerous

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Jan. 11.—The Missouri legislature, in a joint session of the house and senate, early today voted to halt the inauguration of Governor-elect Forrest C. Donnell, Republican, scheduled for Monday. The vote was 101 to 78.

A petition, formally contesting Donnell's election as governor, was filed late yesterday with the legislature.

The petition, filed in the name of James T. Blair, Jr., chairman of the Cole county Democratic committee, charged irregularities in the gubernatorial election and asked for a re-count.

The petition asked the legislature to open the ballot boxes and recount the vote "in order that the

City Leaders Given Information On Plan To Secure Industries

"Know what you are prepared to do and then present your arguments in clearcut form" was the advice given a group of New Castle business men Friday afternoon when Deputy Secretary of Commerce Mark James spoke at a luncheon meeting in The Castle.

The meeting was called for the purpose of finding out what steps are necessary to get the request of a city for defense industries or orders before the proper boards to be given consideration.

"Many cities have sent delegations to Washington," said Mr. James. "They have come down and simply said they wanted some orders. Asked what they could manufacture they replied rather vaguely 'anything'. Usually this answer got them nowhere. Other cities have surveyed the field and surveyed their own city to see what needs they could meet. Many of these have been successful in their quest."

"Here in New Castle you have a plant that seems to me ideal for the fabrication of airplane wings. The room is plenty long and you have a labor market. I advise you to survey your city, know exactly what you have to offer then bring your package to Washington and I will aid you marketing it."

Vin Sweeney, a representative of Philip Murray, president of the C. I. O. spoke briefly and said that his organization was interested in the success of any movement designed to bring industry to New Castle. He assured the men of the willingness of the C. I. O. to cooperate with them and with Mr. James towards helping New Castle.

Secretary of Property and Supplies Roger W. Rowland was the chairman of the meeting and introduced the speakers. About 30 were present.

Bitter Controversy In Congress Imminent Over Requests Of Roosevelt

OPPOSITION WILL ATTACK PROPOSAL

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt's plan to gain unlimited power—short of the use of troops—to wage an undeclared war on the Axis dictators gave congress today the most momentous question it has faced since the United States entered the first World war in 1917.

The President asked such precedent-shattering treaty-flouting wartime powers as to present Congress with this question:

To Provoke War
Shall the United States give the democracies "all-out aid regardless of cost and even if it provokes war with the Axis powers—war within 90 days as rumored in official circles?"

At first blush it appears a majority of Congress favors this program, regardless of cost or consequences. There are groups, however, in the House and Senate which will force striking debates on the issue and all its vast portents for the future of the American people.

The issue to be raised by these groups is whether the people of the WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—President Roosevelt's proposal to permit British warships to re-arm in American ports was regarded as a diplomatic quarrel today as a departure by the United States from what has been generally recognized under international law as neutrality.

If Congress approves this part of the aid-to-Britain bill, diplomatic observers feel the United States can no longer be considered a neutral but will assume the role of a non-belligerent partner of Great Britain in the war.

This was the role played by Italy toward Germany before Premier Mussolini finally entered the war.

Under the general concept of international law, a neutral nation is not supposed to permit a belligerent warship to use its ports for the purpose of re-arming or repairing war damage. Ordinarily, such a move would be considered an unfriendly if not a hostile act by the belligerent adversely affected.

Meanwhile, the royal air force pounded Fascist supply bases in all sectors of North and East Africa as well as in Sicily and on the Italian mainland.

Reconnaissance flights over the bombed port of Messina, Sicily, today indicated that an Italian naval cruiser was damaged in the most recent raid. Pilots reported that a string of bombs fell straight across her decks.

Several tons of bombs were dropped in the raid on Messina, and scores of fires were started among oil storage tanks, dry docks, warehouses, and other harbor facilities. ## PRESIDENT'S PLAN FOR GREATER POWER TO CAUSE BATTLE

United States believe their chief purpose is:
1. To aid the democracies; or,
2. To stay out of war.

President's Stand
The President based his plea for "all-out" aid, regardless of consequences, on the declaration that the United States is "committed to full support of all those resolute peoples, everywhere, who are resisting aggression and thereby keeping war away from our hemisphere."

And he added that as "long as the aggressor nations maintain the offensive" the future of all American republics is in serious danger.

Without disputing the President's contentions, the opposition is charging that his plan goes far beyond "full support to resolute peoples." The opposition argues, first, that the program will create a totalitarian government in the United States with Mr. Roosevelt as dictator.

It contends, secondly, that the plan constitutes a "streamline" declaration of war against the Axis powers and calls for spending untold billions of dollars on the democracies with the State Department blandly conceding that not one penny will be repaid.

Battle Is Certain
The President, according to best advice, may win but not without a battle in the Senate at least.

The Senate opposition will raise many complicated questions before a final decision is reached—questions involving Britain's financial resources in this country, her threat to impose import duties on American material used in fortifying the newly-rented naval bases on British islands along the U. S. coast and lastly, British war and peace aims.

On the question of British resources in this country, the federal reserve board reports a $7,000,000,000 "dollar balance." This means the British own that amount of American securities plus credits plus gold deposits in the United States. One feature of the report was that the British holdings are about the same as a year ago, despite the spending of a billion dollars on American commodities, chiefly war supplies.

The replenishment came largely through British gold production in the past year.

Cost to U. S.
The question of cost to the American taxpayer also will be debated.

Best administration opinion hints that the aid program will cost $7,000,000,000 before it is completed, but the President's bill carries no maximum limitation.

There will be talk, too, on the question of international law, raised by the President's proposal to use American shipyards to rearm damaged British warships. This is in open defiance of international law and the State Department concedes it but asserts that the United States is free to ignore treaties which the Axis dictators have flouted and thereby repealed.

All these issues—not to mention the public debt and new taxes—will be aired as the President's bill moves through the House and Senate. It probably will pass in one form or another, but not before the American people have been treated to the democratic processes of legislative debate such as featured the World War declaration, the flight over the League of Nations, the battles of the World Court and the President's proposal to enlarge the supreme court.

Cyril Benton Altman.
Without regaining consciousness since injured when struck by an auto almost a month ago, Cyril Benton Altman, aged 44, of New Galilee, passed away in Butler hospital Friday at 11:10 a. m.

merous residents were killed and injured.

Many Places Ruined
Flames and blasts wrecked or damaged churches, schools, hotels, business premises, theaters, motion picture houses, hospitals and model tenement buildings.

No less than six churches were blasted by the raiders.

Fires illuminated the town and the surrounding countryside throughout the night, while firefighters worked like Trojans to subdue the blazes.

The number killed and injured has not yet been determined.

The procession of German planes first came in early in the evening, dropping flares, while anti-aircraft batteries sent up a shattering barrage.

Then came the second wave of Nazi attackers. Following their usual "Concentrating" tactics, they dropped first fire bombs, then high explosives.

Thereafter the German planes flew overhead incessantly, save for one brief lull.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

DRESSING THE TODDLER

Manufacturers of children's clothes have made great progress in the direction of comfort, simplicity, and promotion of self-help. There are few buttons, sometimes none at all on a garment; big buttons, big button holes; and zippers! The Home Economics Bureau of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., make available to organizations an exhibit on proper clothing for babies and children.

Mothers who make their children's clothing still may like some fussy dresses, but such are rapidly passing. Frills and ruffles are hard to launder and keep clean and are not durable. Worst of all the toddler or runabout who must wear them is hampered in his activity and on their account may frequently be scolded for getting them soiled or torn. If he submits to continuous caution about his fancy garment, other children soon will shun him.

Comfortable Clothes

Whether hand-made or ready-made, children's garments should be comfortably roomy. We may forget that the child grows and his clothes do not. Accordingly underwear and rompers often become tight. Not only are they very uncomfortable to the child but they are bad for his posture.

For play the simplest garment is the best. When the toddler or runabout comes home from a place where he had to be dressed up, see that he changes at once to play clothes and that he soon learns to take such responsibility himself. Do this for economy as well as comfort.

Be Careful About Shoes

Shoes are very important. For the baby and young child they should be roomy. The young child outgrows his shoes before they wear out. Watch for signs of crowded or bent toes. While it may seem economical to have a younger child wear the out-grown shoes of an older one it is very undesirable—bad for comfort, ease of walking, for posture, and the younger child the more serious it is.

Watch the child's shoes for uneven wear. The child who toes-in or who rolls-in on his shoes needs special medical attention. Fortunately high grade shoe stores generally have salesmen who are trained in proper fitting of babies' and children's shoes.

You may receive measurements for home-made blocks which my wife and I devised, by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York, enclosing a self-addressed envelope with a three-cent stamp on it. Also a graded list of toys to buy, and a list of books from which to read to the baby and young child.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

ALL DOING IT
Even old age, traditional period of quiet and serenity, keeps on producing the startling exceptions which prove the rule. And recent news dispatches have been laden with exceptions.

A man in his sixties at Pottsville, Pennsylvania, had just received his airplane pilot's license. Up in Burlington, Vermont, a seventy-three year-old woman has begun taking her first skiing lessons. At Philadelphia, an ex-sculpting champion returned to the scene of his early-day triumphs and celebrated his ninety-first birthday by taking a brisk row on the river. At Gainesville, Florida, a seventy-three year-old man entered his first year at law school. In San Diego an eighty-one year old man kept step with a generation one-fourth his age by making a solo flight in an airplane.

The sunset years of life for these people will hardly be weighted down with idleness and boredom. We don't, however, unqualifiedly recommend skiing and solo flying to fill the idle hours of those who have passed their three score years and ten. We mention these exceptions to the rule that old age is filled with tranquil, mellow hours, simply as fresh proof of the wise adage that you're only as old as you feel.

Bible Thought For Today

In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. . . In him was life; and the life was the light of man.—John 1.1, 4.

Words Of Wisdom

Let no man be sorry he has done good, because others have done evil! If a man has acted right, he has done well though alone; if wrong, the sanction of all mankind will not justify him.—Fielding.

Hints On Etiquette

Good-natured courtesy and a sense of fairness go a long way to make life's journey pleasant for everyone—and this means in the home as well as abroad.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 4:54; sun rises tomorrow 7:21.

There are two words that often mean tragedy. They are "Too Late."

There are eight timers in New Castle. How many of them do you know the names of and where they are located?

One thing we would like to have straightened out and that is the evening meal dinner or supper.

The girl wanted to get married and the man didn't want to get married. Both quit each other. It was mutual.

An Ohio man was fined $50 for hitting another man over the head with a shovel. Shovels are now being used to things to lean on and for weapons.

A Scotch forekeeper's show window, to the surprise of his brethren, was suddenly adorned with a gorgeous new sign.

How times change. Oldsters can remember when mothers voted against a bad shot because he smoked cigarettes.

Do you remember when you had a good time back in the gay 90's all you had to pay then was the fiddle? Now the orchestra must be paid.

We know a gal who lets her husband buy his own neckties and he isn't always satisfied with them and he gets even with her when she criticizes them by criticizing her hats, which he also lets her buy herself.

When people get ill
A doctor is called.
Who quickly relieves them of pains.
He gives them a pill.
Then isn't it true that
He lives by his ill-gotten gains?

"Aw, shucks!" scoffed the husband of a woman, "you're always wishing for something you haven't got." "Well," she replied, "what else can one wish for?"

A lot of people are finding out for the first time how many billion dollars can be asked for and spent without them knowing where it is spent.

The political man had been appointed community sing leader for the big rally and was rehearsing the group that was to lead the sing when the candidate arrived.

To put a religious touch to the gathering it was decided that "Onward Christian Soldiers" would be one of the numbers.

"Now we'll sing this song all the way through," said the head man. "In the third verse the sopranos will sing down to 'the gates of hell,' then all of you can come in."

A juvenile in explaining the use of the words "Quote" and "Unquote," says that "Quote" is the man and "Unquote" is his wife.

As times flies the loafer swats it.

The Hints and Dints man was introduced to a gentleman in Youngstown. He said, "You are from New Castle? I know most of the people in that city but I have never heard of you."

Pete attended a temperance lecture by mistake one evening last week and was quite interested in the speaker. He was an amiable sort of chap who didn't look like he was getting a very good deal from life. After the talk Pete tarried for a few words with the lecturer.

"So liquor never passed your lips, eh?" he asked.

"Not a drop," said the other, solemnly.

"Him?" Pete said thoughtfully. "My grandfather drank all his life and even after he was dead he looked healthier than you do."

TODAY'S STORYTELLER

Many good stories are told at the expense of the late Henry Ward Beecher, who had a great flair for humor both in the pulpit and out of it. One April 1st he found his morning mail a letter containing only the words, "April Fool."

"Well, well," said Beecher. "I have received many letters where a man forgot to sign his name, but this is the first time I ever knew of a writer signing his name and forgetting to write the letter."

A good thing for any city is to have straightened out that will keep heavy traffic from the busy streets. So many big truck drivers just seem to love to drive through the busiest streets.

An attempt will be made in the Pennsylvania legislature to have a law passed to make automobile drivers responsible for the damage they do. Too many of them after an accident, if still alive, laugh and say "what yer goin' ter do 'bout it?"

We know a chap who says he used to go out after a dollar but is satisfied now if he comes back with 50 cents.

There are people who try by using words to make people fail for their stuff. Actions are louder and better than words.

We told a story some time ago about a teacher who kept grand order, and at the request of no one at all we're going to tell another along the same line.

A school superintendent was making the rounds of country schools and was amazed at the order maintained in one classroom. He was astounded, for the teacher didn't look like a disciplinarian at all.

"How do you do it, Bumpkins?" he asked. "Do you whip them very much?"

"Never whip 'em."

"Keep them in after school?"

"I never keep them in."

"Do you require extra work as punishment?"

"I never make them do extra work."

"How in the world do you keep them in such good order?"

"I'll tell you," said Bumpkins, confidentially. "When they don't do right, I just eat up my dinner and I don't have any more trouble."

Little Willie was asked to name two ancient sports. He thought for a moment, then replied: "Anthony and Cleopatra?"

A North Hill man declares that he has the best wife in the world. She always allows him to go wherever he wants him to go.

There must still be a few things needed to make airplanes safe. Every now and then some noted and supposed competent flyer goes down and gets killed.

Men have a contempt for the beautiful but useless. "Oh, I'm not at all domesticated," type. People in love are thrilled at times by returns to the primitive. That is why most of them like occasional vacations in the wilds, where the wife cooks what her man kills with rod or gun.

Question: I have received an invitation to a house christening and reception thereafter. Must I bring a gift to the baby; also what kind of clothes should I wear? I am not to be a godparent.—Jeanne.

Answer: If you have not already sent a gift to the baby when its birth was announced, you should then bring along with you some small gift, such as flowers, a piece of wearing apparel, a toy or perhaps a set of tiny gold baby pins.

Many people give the mother a gift instead of the baby, feeling that a newborn baby is usually deluged with gifts for which it may have no use.

A christening reception is very much like an afternoon tea and the same kind of clothes should be worn to the former as one would naturally wear to the latter.

The women should wear afternoon dresses, the men either sack suits or formal afternoon clothes (cut-away coats, striped trousers, etc.) according to the formality or informality of the occasion.

Question: My sister is to have a church wedding. She will have four bridesmaids and four ushers and a maid of honor. May she have two flower girls? If so, where should they walk in the procession and recessional?—Ida.

Answer: Flowergirls and pages are not now so frequently included in wedding parties as they were formerly. But if the bride so wishes she may include them. The flower-girls should walk behind the maid-of-honor in the procession. In the recessional, they usually precede the bride and groom, strewn flowers in their path as they go down the aisle.

An attempt will be made in the Pennsylvania legislature to have a law passed to make automobile drivers responsible for the damage they do. Too many of them after an accident, if still alive, laugh and say "what yer goin' ter do 'bout it?"

No Chance Of Asking For Peace Terms
Tydings' Suggestion Believed Useless
Feel Hitler Could Not Be Trusted Far

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Adoption of Senator Millard E. Tydings' suggestion that the United States ask Britain and the Axis powers for statements of the terms upon which the respective sides would be willing to stop fighting now appears altogether unlikely.

The requests, of course, could be made only upon President Roosevelt's initiative presumably through the state department, and neither the White House nor the department show much inclination to act as the Maryland solon proposes. The president has said as much. It scarcely requires saying that they'd be rejoiced to end the war if they could, but it's pretty evident that they stand no chance of doing it at present by way of the Tydings method.

That Herr Hitler would be willing to name his peace conditions is considered extremely likely. Indeed, he's hinted already at an inclination to do so, even unwittingly. A possibility is seen, too, that he might make an offer which the British would find more or less acceptable. They provided they thought they could trust him to stick to any imaginable bargain that he'd subscribed to. While it doesn't outright say so, Washington officialdom is fully convinced, however, that Adolf isn't to be believed under oath. Holding this opinion of its own, it can't very well blame John Bull for holding the same one.

Churchill's Condition

What British Prime Minister Winston Churchill would return as an answer to a request for his country's peace conditions is clear—here. The emphatic consensus in Washington is that he'd name just a single condition—the unqualified extinction of the Fuehrer, and extinction of a sort to guarantee its everlasting permanency. Obviously that's a condition that Adolf wouldn't agree to—not even lyingly.

So what's the use in asking Britain and the Axis for mutual statements of conditions, since it's a foregone conclusion that no dicker can be arrived at under existing conditions?

Later, when one side or the other virtually is all in, maybe Uncle Sam's good offices will amount to something, but not now.

Such is official Washington's view.

In diplomatic circles there's been a bit of grumbling to the effect that Lord Halifax's appointment as John Bull's ambassador in our capital hints at a British desire to have Uncle Sam do some pacificatory work. This is because his lordship was an appeaser until shortly before the war started. He hasn't been since then, though.

Besides, Prime Minister Winston Churchill sent him here, and Winston certainly isn't an appeaser; it isn't conceivable that he'll stand for any "negotiated peace" activity by his embassy on Massachusetts avenue.

Winston's recent speech, by radio to the Italians, urging them to overthrow Duce Mussolini, is taken as representative of his war policy.

Let the Italians exterminate the one man who led 'em into the raging conflict and Britain will be ready to talk peace terms with the rest of 'em. But not until then.

The inference is drawn that British will be ready to talk peace with the Germans also if they'll overthrow Fuehrer Hitler.

Waste Of Time Now
Washington's notion is that it will be opportune to ask the belligerents to outline their respective sets of peace conditions as soon as these two overthrows have been effected, but that it would be a waste of time, and perhaps an actual complication of matters to make an attempt at today's stage of the "umpus."

Some wondering's being done as to why Prime Minister Churchill did not make a radio appeal to the Germans to capture Adolf as well as the Italians to suppress Benito.

The explanation doubtless is that he felt the Italians must realize already that they're groggy and probably are sore at Benito for misleading 'em into their North African and Albanian pickles; whereas Adolf's score has been good enough to make 'em appear fairly well satisfied with the German.

The Fuehrer suffers a substantial basket, a Churchill broadcast to the Fatherland will be safe to count on.

UNDER THE SPELL

At present in her eyes he seems
The hero of a hundred dreams,
A knight in armor.
Or, snuggled there are no foes to shoot.
A two-pants, forty-dollar suit,
A gay Prince Charming.

Here, if perfection can be found,
She's sure in him it walks around
And sings and dances
Beneath his gray fedora lies
A mind, both brilliant and wise,
Or so she fancies.

Coarse brutes, most men appear
To be
But something nobler now is he
Than are his brothers.
Nobler, and better looking, too,
More richly gifted through and through
Than all the others.

And who am I to shake the head
And say: When you've a month
been wed
You will discover
That he possesses many a flaw
And common trait you never saw
In him, the lover.

We who have had our little day
Of hiding deep our feet of clay
Should not begrudge him
His time within love's magic spell.
So what I think I will not tell.
Least I misjudge him.

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)

MONTELEONE, Va.—Former U. S. Senator Ernest W. Gibson as new head of committee to defend America by aiding the allies calls for still greater aid for Britain:

"There can be no compromise with a philosophy which proclaims that the supreme arbiter of the destinies of the world, no truce with thieves and assassins."

NEW YORK—Verne Marshall, chairman of the "no foreign war committee," believes the U. S. could end the war if it so willed:

"As soon as the world knows America is not going into this war, this war will end."

NEW YORK—Nelson A. Rockefeller urges business and labor to co-operate with the government for hemisphere solidarity:

"To preserve the heritage of freedom that is common to all the American republics requires constant vigilance not only on the part of government but on the part of business and on the part of labor in all of these countries."

ALL-DEVOURING MARS

THE budget of seventeen and a half billion dollars, which is now receiving the consideration of Congress following its presentation by the President, is listed as the "largest peacetime budget" in the nation's history. It is surpassed in its proportions only by the war years of 1917-18. Its classification as a peacetime budget, however, is wholly inaccurate. It is a budget whose unprecedented size is made necessary by requirements of defense which are essentially the same as those of war.

And so, although there has been no overt act, no aggression that might justify a declaration of war or that more subtle diplomatic maneuver, the recognition of a state of war, this nation is being placed on a war basis comparable to that of 1917. In fact, preparations are even more portentous. At that time the nation was concerned with a known enemy in Europe. Now, at a rate far surpassing hopeful expectations, it is building a two-ocean navy for possible eventualities in the East.

In the world generally, money has ceased to count. The battle is one between nations whose treasuries have long been exhausted, whose lands are in ruins, whose people crave the necessities of life. They are animated solely by the hope of survival. Even Britain, whose empire borders upon seven seas and whose wealth was at one time believed to be inexhaustible, no longer hopes to save any of its riches. All that it asks is to live.

It is only here, where there is still money enough to go around, that this factor of life is taken seriously. It is only here that there is still concern about budgets and taxes. Abroad the people of embattled lands have long since become reconciled to parting with all they have.

To Americans, not immediately confronted with the problem of survival, the figures bring dismay. For defense spending alone eleven billions is asked, with billions more for aid to Britain—billions not included in the seventeen and a half billion dollar budget. The public debt will rise to new heights, as also will the deficit and taxes.

But when Mars is in the ascendant, both in the East and the West, and when the dictators are on the march, it appears to become necessary to throw financial restraints to the winds.

GALLANT LADY

It seems ironic that Amy Johnson Mollison, that intrepid spirit who had flown the uncharted ways of the air over seas, jungles and forests, should have perished at last in the waters of the Thames, so close to home.

That Amy Johnson Mollison should have lived to be 32 years old is in itself a remarkable circumstance, an evidence of the unflinching kindness of the fates during this last decade, crowded with high adventure. She had slight regard for her own safety. Ten years ago, in a second-hand plane and without ever having flown more than 190 miles from her own home, she started for Australia. Nineteen days later she arrived, having flirted with death a hundred times during the 9,495-mile hop.

That daring venture was merely the beginning. In the years that followed immediately there were other memorable flights to America, to Japan, to South America. Her death came during the performance of a routine and relatively humble duty—the flying of army planes from one airport to another.

The achievements of Amy Johnson Mollison in aviation are not merely among the most distinguished ever recorded by flyers of her sex. They will be memorable in the bright annals of a great game.

FOR NAVAL PREPAREDNESS

Establishment of three fleets, Atlantic, Pacific and Asiatic, is an important move in the strengthening of America's naval defenses. Creation of an Atlantic fleet, as announced by Secretary of the Navy Knox, presumably is notice to aggressor Powers that the eastern as well as the western coast of the United States is not going to be left unprotected.

No less momentous than the reorganization of Navy units and the placing of younger men in command is the order to increase enlisted fleet personnel to 232,000 men, a jump of 42,000 over present enrollment.

This enlargement of naval forces, including reserves, would bring to 100 per cent war strength all ships now in commission. It is a procedure which, perhaps over-due, is exceedingly timely now.

These naval changes are in no way provocative nor do they hold the implication of the direct involvement of this country in war. They are simply necessary factors in safeguarding America against attack.

Preparedness is not preparedness if there are any vulnerable spots in the nation's armor. Rearrangement and enlargement of our naval forces are vital essentials for our country's safety.

HUMANITARIAN ACTION

Britain's decision to ease the blockade restrictions to permit entry of certain American food, medical and clothing supplies into unoccupied France and Spain is a humanitarian measure of vast potentiality. Millions of children in the two war-impoised countries are threatened with severe malnutrition because of the food shortage.

Success of the undertaking, to be in charge of the American Red Cross, will be reckoned by the efficacy of its administration. The primary essential is that distribution of the relief supplies be protected from seizure by the ruthless Axis Powers.

The British emphasize that relaxing the rules in this case does not mean a general weakening of the blockade. They are within their rights in this regard. The blockade is a weapon aimed at shortening the war by reducing food and other imports into Germany and Italy.

But if this experiment achieves its major purpose without providing aid and comfort to Hitler and Mussolini it may lead to larger-scale efforts to help the hungry, cold and sick in stricken Europe.

You have to give the Italians credit for one thing. When they get licked they admit it.

Trinity Church Sunday Services

Special Features Of Service At Trinity On Sunday; Service
Monday At 11 A. M.

What would the narratives of the infancy of Christ be without the romantic story of the journeys and homages of the Wise Men? Tomorrow in Trinity church, this series of events, so dear to the heart of every Christian, from the account of every in the Bible, will be commemorated by the special collect, epistle, gospel, anthem, and other music by the senior choir. It is the first Sunday after the Epiphany.

Monday, the octave of the Feast of the Epiphany, will mark the last of the Christmas season as it is usually kept by western Christians and the last night for the lighting of the cross and the Christmas tree outside the church. The service at 11 a. m. is the holy communion and sermon, giving people a chance to join with the Magi in adoration of the Infant King.

ITS effectiveness depends upon the ingenuity of its personnel to organize and of the two bosses to agree with each other. No one would think of trying to run a big business with two bosses. No one would think of trying to run a nation with two Presidents. This job of defense more plainly calls for one-man direction than any other. Until that was given in the last war things were in the same kind of muddle they are now. Once it was given, the wheels really began to turn. All of this has been urged upon Mr. Roosevelt. He chooses to disregard it. Perhaps Mrs. Roosevelt thinks it unpatriotic not to cheer that and unkind to mention it.

TO some who view this two-headed setup with distrust, there is one phase of the Roosevelt action that seems more deplorable than the dual management. That is his insistence upon separating labor and capital; his persistent attitude that one must be offset by the other; or that one must watch the other; that an industrialist cannot be trusted to do the job unless there is a labor leader to balance his authority. This is no way to unify a nation. This is no way to inspire men who at great sacrifice are here to defend their country. It isn't right to regard Mr. Knudsen as representing capital and take the view that it is necessary to balance him with a labor boss. Mr. Knudsen ought to be regarded as representing production and neither capital nor labor.

IN the last war President Wilson named Mr. Baruch boss and no one regarded him as "capital," though he had made a great fortune in Wall Street. Mr. Wilson did not put a labor leader on as boss to balance Baruch. He named Mr. Samuel Gompers, a bigger labor leader than Mr. Hillman ever will be, as a member of the Advisory Board, and Mr. Gompers got behind Mr. Baruch one hundred per cent. How are you going to cheer a President who, while calling for unity, insists upon dividing the country into classes? You can support him because defense is so urgent and his foreign policy so right, but it too much to expect applause for the way in which he implements it.

Dr. Williams will speak Sunday morning the party, the musicians, Prof. J. R. MacMurry and Maring Swart will be at the East Brook Methodist church at 10 o'clock, and at the Croton Methodist church at 10:45. The Williams musical ensemble will sing and Dr. Williams will preach. At 2:30 a mass meeting will be held at the First Methodist church when all churches are asked to co-operate. The 7:30 union service will be held in the First Methodist church, is church co-operating.

The Williams party will be heard for the last time in connection with this campaign at the First Baptist church, when the Williams musical ensemble will present another of their famous musical sermons, entitled "Calvary." This will be dramatized and the full dramatic lighting effect used.

labor leader. In other words, he has rejected not only the lesson of the last war but the counsel of the most experienced men around him. And he has yielded to the demands of the radical element in the New Deal. Instead of making one boss, he has made two. Instead of establishing one-man control and responsibility, he has set up a dual control and divided responsibility. It may work. Everybody hopes it will; but it is immensely awkward and the possibilities of friction are clear.

ITS effectiveness depends upon the ingenuity of its personnel to organize and of the two bosses to agree with each other. No one would think of trying to run a big business with two bosses. ## Aid-To-Britain Bill Revision Will Be Sought

Foes Claim Measure As Proposed Means Actual War Involvement

SEE DICTATORIAL POWERS GRANTED

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Jan. 11.—Despite administration predictions of swift and sure passage of the Aid-To-Britain bill, foes today mapped a bitter fight to drastically revise it.

The congressional battle against the measure, designed to make the United States the "arsenal of democracies" was based on three grounds. They are:

1. It means actual involvement in the European war.
2. It is un-American because it grants dictatorial powers to President Roosevelt.
3. Aid to Britain should be conditioned upon surrender of British possessions in the western hemisphere and Pacific Islands for bases.

A substitute plan to set up a governmental board, including three members of the senate and three of the house, to supervise aid to the British was being framed by a group of house members.

The battle is scheduled to open Tuesday in hearings of the open foreign affairs committee. Secretary of state Hull may be invited to be the first witness.

Administration leaders made plain that they will demand speedy consideration in both senate and house, although chairman Bloom (D-N.Y.) of the house foreign affairs committee promised "ample" hearings.

The measure, which gives Mr. Roosevelt power to manufacture arms for any nation "whose defense the president deems vital to the defense of the United States," was admittedly the most far-reaching "blank check" congress has been asked to vote during his administration.

Administration leaders defended the broad grant of power. Speaker Rayburn declared that the president is the one man who could supervise the gigantic task of providing Great Britain and other nations with the arms they need.

Two Dead Result Of Snow Storm

Two Women Meet Death In Auto Crash In Carnegie, Pa., As Car Skids

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Jan. 11.—At least two persons were dead in the Pittsburgh area today as the result of overnight traffic accidents incurred by a powdery snowfall that made highways treacherous for motorists.

Both victims were women, killed outright when the auto in which they were riding skidded and crashed into another car near suburban Carnegie.

Mrs. Gus Winters, 58, and Mrs. Marie Haley, 52, both of McDonald, were dead when taken from the wreckage. Seriously hurt were Gus Winters, 58, husband of the dead woman, and Mrs. Frank Winters, 54, a sister-in-law. Frank Winters, 68, a brother of Gus, was slightly injured while Nicholas Corba, 23, Carnegie, driver of the other car, escaped injury.

Several accidents
Similar driving conditions caused the serious injury of Lawrence Felicity, 41, of Coal Valley, and his son, Emil, 14. Their machine skidded and struck a parked car in Clairton. The father was in serious condition, the son in "fair" condition at McKeesport hospital.

The steady snowfall brought a flurry of sledding accidents and minor traffic crashes throughout the Allegheny county district. Auto clubs warned motorists to use chains and drive with caution.

British Troops Make Advance Into Turbi Hills

Meet No Opposition In Drive Near Ethiopian-Kenya Frontier

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
NAIROBI, Kenya, Jan. 11.—British empire troops have entered the Turbi hills southwest of Moyale, near the Ethiopian-Kenya frontier, without any opposition or even contact with the enemy, a communiqué said today.

Italian infantry and transports were successfully bombed at Dobei-dando, the statement added.

The Turbi hills are in Kenya, on the west flank of the section invaded by Fascist troops early in the African war.

Re-penetration of this sector by imperial troops two days ago marked the beginning of a double offensive from Kenya colony—one northward against Ethiopia, and the other straight eastward into the El-Wak area of Italian Somaliland.

Dr. Dafoe's Column On The Quintuplets And The Care Of Your Children

(Copyright, 1941, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

It is my hope that the Dionne Quintuplets are gradually building up their immunities by the contacts they have with outsiders. This is necessary for if we keep them in a sterile atmosphere, too much of them are older and go out into the world—as no doubt they will, they will be prey to all our infectious diseases.

This danger was emphasized for me a few years ago in a small private school here in Ontario. I had sent my boy there because his mother was dead and I felt I wasn't able to care for him as I should. In his second year there, a missionary in the far north, I think it was from around Ungava Bay, persuaded the chief of an Eskimo tribe to send his son and his son's playmate down there for a white man's schooling.

I remember the papers carried a few stories about it at the time and when my boy went back to school that fall, he was all excited about the little Eskimos who were to be his schoolmates. I had done quite a lot of reading about the Eskimos, their habits, their diseases and I was vastly interested, too, because I wondered what would happen to those boys from the Arctic, exposed for the first time to the diseases of our climate.

As I had expected, those poor kids hadn't been in school three weeks until they were both down with bad colds. The common cold is one of the infections the Eskimos don't suffer from in the section these boys came from and they had no immunity to it.

One cold followed another, then the cold infection got into their ears. They had earaches, ear discharges, and then the inevitable happened—they both developed mastoids and had to be operated on. That wasn't all. They developed the measles, the mumps, whooping cough—with more colds to complicate their complications.

When my son came home from Christmas he told me how disappointed the boys at school were. The Eskimos were such nice little chaps. They could speak some English and they had such marvelous stories to tell about life in the Arctic. But most of the time they were confined to their rooms with this or that infection. The other boys could only talk to them through the door.

After some months, it became apparent the Eskimos couldn't stand the rigors of our temperature climate and its infections, so they were sent back to their home in the cold north. There, we learned later, they regained their health and took their place amongst the hunters of their tribe.

The point is, it is not wise to isolate children completely from infection. The wise thing is to build up their immunity to it.

Seek Funds To Aid Deaconess

An appeal sent to the national headquarters of the Episcopal Church in New York City by Deaconess Margaret Bechtol for money with which to buy surgical instruments for use in the clinic at St. Andrew's Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, where she is located has been referred to the Diocese of Erie and on down to the local branch of the Woman's Auxiliary at Trinity Church. This organization has raised more than half of the amount required.

Should there be friends of Deaconess Bechtol in the city who would like to share contributions may be sent to Mrs. Robert M. Garland, president of the Trinity Church Branch of the Woman's Auxiliary.

In the advance reports of the state supreme court for this month is a case with some similarity to the Dean case in this county. Arthur P. Dean is in the county jail awaiting determination of the degree of his guilt for the murder of his sister-in-law, Helen Nasal. The testimony taken was before Judge Thomas W. Dickey who died before an opinion could be written. There has been a question as to whether the testimony must be taken again.

The case reported is from Philadelphia, one of the "poison murders" perpetrated by an insurance ring. Paul Petrillo, Rose Davis and Max Bolin were indicted for murder in June 1939 and were called up for trial before Judge A. S. C. Millar. Petrillo withdrew his pleas of not guilty and changed it to guilty, whereupon Judge Millar, Judge Theodore Rosen and Judge Theodore Smith heard the testimony.

Before an opinion could be given, Judge Millar died and the other two judges returned a verdict of guilty with the death penalty. Petrillo appealed the sentence on the ground that Judge Millar had not concurred in it. The court ruled the other two judges had a right to return a verdict following Judge Millar's death.

DAILY DOZEN

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

Rheumatism and heart disease are not confined to older persons. Rheumatic heart disease affects 1,000,000 United States children. In Pennsylvania the rheumatic heart disease record is tragic. It kills many persons under 20 years of age. More than from measles, diphtheria, scarlet fever combined. Whooping cough and infantile paralysis can be added, too. In the United States in 1939, 40,000 died of rheumatic heart disease. The cause is not known, nor is there any known cure. Children with proper home surroundings are less likely victims. Rheumatic heart disease is most prevalent in slum areas. The standard of living among the poor needs to be raised. "Those growing pains" in a child may be rheumatic heart disease.

Youngster Urges Street Be Closed For Sled Riding

Charles B. Mayne may have been elected to the position of mayor of the city of New Castle but Donny Harris is the mayor of Temple avenue, and Mayor Donny claims his constituents are complaining.

"It's like this," Mayor Donny said today, "here the weather is right for sled riding. Temple avenue has just the right pitch for a safe ride, but the automobiles make it dangerous for us kids to sled here."

"Couldn't Mayor Mayne or city council or somebody declare a few streets closed to automobile traffic for a little while and give us a chance to get in some sled riding? Folks with cars could park in the next street or drive over the alleys. It isn't asking much but it would give us kids a lot of fun."

Mayor Donny Harris seems to have something there. In the various parts of town there are a few streets that could be closed to vehicular traffic while sled riding is good, without much inconvenience. And the youngsters would get some real fun.

Confidentially if we were running for office or intended to run for office we would go a long way to cultivate Mayor Donny and his constituents. They can't vote yet but they can make a lot of noise.

Name Dr. Foster Alumni President

Dr. Arthur B. Foster was elected president of the New Castle High School Alumni Association Friday night when a meeting of the association was held in the George Washington junior high school. With him were elected Vice President Mrs. Raymond C. Lutz, Secretary, Miss Harriet Weddell and Treasurer John D. Kennedy.

The meeting was called to order by the retiring president, Mrs. J. Leile Brundage. Because of the basketball game which was played in the Washington gym the meeting was short. President Foster stated he would call a later meeting to arrange for some social functions this year.

Geneva Will Battle Titans

Westminster To Seek Seventh Straight Win Of Season On Home Floor Tonight

CLOSE GAME IS BEING FORECAST

(Special to The News) NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 11.—Geneva's old gold and black-clad eagles will invade the Westminster Titan court tonight in an attempt to stop cold a six-game Titan winning streak, with Pitt as the latest victim.

Both teams will be strong defensively as well as offensively. Geneva is the first team in several years to hold the high-scoring University of Scranton team under 50 points. At the same time, Geneva has been consistently piling up scores that have run into the 50's and 60's. The Covenanters are strong enough on the offensive that they will probably not even start Billie, last year's sophomore sensation on point-making.

Westminster will feature what so far this season has been an airtight zone defense, penetrable only occasionally around the edges. Unless Geneva is set to try for longshots, they will find their high-scoring more difficult than usual.

Starting for the Titans will be Rudi and Fox at forwards; Wask or Miller, center, and Spak and Dunmire, guards. For Geneva, probable starters will be Viscarelli and De Venzio, forwards; Jersey, center, and Palmer and Hart, guards.

The game will be a free-scoring affair from both sides, since all except Palmer for the Covenanters are capable of 15 points a game. Any one of the Titans may come through with scoring honors for the evening.

First Baptists, St. George Greeks And Epworth Win League Tilts

There were three games last night in the "Y" court in New Castle church league. In the first game the Epworth team tripped the First Methodist boys 33 to 22.

The second game went to the Greek St. George team over the First Presbyterians 33 to 28, while the St. Marys team lost a tough one to the Baptists 33 to 26.

CELTICS WIN GAME

The Celtics defeated the Globetrotters last night in a House league game at the "Y" 39 to 35. Scoring stars were Kulich with 25 of the points made by the Globetrotters, and Smith, Stevenson and Boyd for the Celtics.

House Of David Here On Monday

Gersons Card Famous Bearded Five For Arena Game, Play Warren Sunday

The famous House of David basketball team of bearded giants will play the local Gersons Jewels at the Arena floor on Monday night, January 13. In the preliminary of the Old Furnace team will battle the Beaver Falls Polish Falcons at 7:30 o'clock.

Sunday afternoon the Gersons will play the fast Leeds Gems of Warren, O., at the Arena floor. In the preliminary at 2 o'clock the Booker T. Washingtons meet a fast Farrell colored team with such well known stars as Kitty Hyatt, all-state forward at Farrell in 1936; Matthews, former Sharon High star; Snooks Johnson and Slim Thomas of the former championship Farrell High team; the latter is 6 feet 4 inches tall.

Bring Fine Teams The Gersons will have a full strength lineup available for the Warren game and also the House of David game on Monday. It was announced by Coach Mike Kulich.

The Gersons intend to bring all of the high class attractions to New Castle that are available. Recently the All-American girl Red-Heads played here. The New York Celtics are being approached for a game here also.

At 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon the Fannins of this city will battle the Duquesne Comets in the third-game of the big triple header at the Arena. The Comets are the league leaders in the Pittsburgh-McKeesport district and will give the Fannins a lot of opposition.

Shenango Cops Sixth In Row

Trips Mt. Jackson 27-16 To Earn Deadline For Section 20 Leadership

By sharing an impressive 27-16 victory over Mt. Jackson Friday night on Shenango floor, Shenango Township High's hoop machine today shares the leadership of Section 20.

The East New Castle five, held down during the major part of the last fast, stepped on the accelerator in the fourth stanza and converted a seeming close battle into a lopsided affair.

After taking a 7-4 lead in the first, Shenango led the hardwood at the half with only a 9-4 edge. Mt. Jackson continued playing a stellar defensive game, holding its foe to a 15-10 edge at the close of the third.

O'Neil, Christie and Pitzer were outstanding as Shenango checked off its sixth consecutive victory. P. Razzano featured for the losers.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Accounts telegraphed this morning from New York say that Lou Nova had too many tricks for the young, overly-exploited Pat Comiskey. The big Californian simply got a work-out against a punching bag, which only a few weeks ago was regarded as a potentially great fighter. Pat can hit, but never had the remotest chance of landing solidly. And now that Nova asserts Mike Jacobs promised to send him against Billy Conn, fans wonder if Mike will keep his word. That would be a fight of lights. Nova and Conn would pack 'em in any man's flint backyard.

Tony Zale, Gary, decisioned Marmos, Washington, in a 10-round middleweight fight at Chicago and Dave Day, the veteran lightweight stopped Nick Castiglione of Chicago in one round. Altona may replace Beaver Falls in the Penn State league, which contains Johnstown, Warren, Butler, Erie and Washington. Several weeks ago we received a tip that certainly sounded good. It was to the effect that Ellwood City men were seeking a franchise in an Elmer Daily circuit. Denny Schill might be able at this time to say whether or not this will occur.

Duquesne and Waynesburg have severed grid relations. Here's another of those "I'll Stick with them step out of your way things": Ken Overlin will fight Tony Cisco at Washington, January 20. The two are former stablemates. Cisco is a tough lad who can reach Ken. Ken is a smart fellow who can pitch. Ray Foutts is again the manager of Teddy Yarosz, ex-middleweight, who likes to mingle with punters. Joe Triner, prexy of the NBA, has advanced a suggestion that the federal government control boxing by the creation of a federal board with Jack Dempsey at the head of the board. This would not eliminate state boxing commissions but would act as a supervisory body in intra-state matters.

Stage is set for the Melio Bettina-Anton Christoforidis 15-round bout Monday night in Cleveland. Promoters have exploited the brawl as a light-heavyweight championship affair. The National Boxing association belt will be given the winner. However, Billy Conn is yet the 175-pound champion in the mind of the public. He will continue to occupy that role until he is beaten in the ring or gives written notice to officials he has relinquished the crown.

One thing that exploited Monday night's set to was the "singling" of "Monopolistic Mike" (Jacobs). The New Yorker squawked, squirmed, yelled "copper" and wanted to run to "John Law" because a good press agent succeeded in getting the championship phase into print. "Monopolistic Mike" threatened us we read to say yet when one of the Cleveland promoters, a lawyer, gave him a green card or clearance paper, which in rail language means "go ahead" Michael folded up.

Possibly "Monopolistic Mike", termed the "czar" and whatnot of New York boxing, imagined an investigation of his asserted stranglehold upon boxers would do him no particular good. No one whom he has helped (and he has several) into championships has been able to fight for anyone that Mike didn't want him to fight for. Usually Mike moved into certain towns, he read to say yet when one of the Cleveland promoters, a lawyer, gave him a green card or clearance paper, which in rail language means "go ahead" Michael folded up.

Jacobs should have remembered to keep still when the Bettina-Christoforidis stories got going. He has been in the pink of condition today as they put the finishing touches on their training in the same Quaker City gymnasium. Down in the "Little Italy" section of south Philadelphia, where Forte was born and raised, fight fans already consider the challenger as the underdog. The return match, they claim, will only serve to confirm the superiority Forte showed when he defeated Salica in a 10-round non-title bout a few months ago.

A prize ring title will be on the block next Monday night when Bantamweight Champion Lou Salica and Tommy Forte tangle in a 15-round return match at the Philadelphia Arena. Both leather-pushers were reported in the pink of condition today as they put the finishing touches on their training in the same Quaker City gymnasium.

Down in the "Little Italy" section of south Philadelphia, where Forte was born and raised, fight fans already consider the challenger as the underdog. The return match, they claim, will only serve to confirm the superiority Forte showed when he defeated Salica in a 10-round non-title bout a few months ago.

Sewanee Quits Football Loop

Once a mighty football power, Sewanee has relegated itself to an obscure spot in the gridiron universe. Sewanee recently withdrew from the southeastern conference, offering this explanation: "A small liberal arts college simply cannot compete in football with large universities."

There was a time when Sewanee played the role of David. Giant Killer Alabama, Auburn, Tulane, Vanderbilt, Tennessee, North Carolina and host of current bigwigs were nearly foes who bit the dust before powerful Sewanee aggregations.

FANS TO SEE TRIPLETS AND 16 AMATEURS

When the Jefferson Athletic club conducts a boxing show January 20 for the benefit of the Johnson triplets, Clara Mae, Gertrude Ann and Thomas Matthew, slightly more than two years old, the men and women who attend the event will not only see the triplets but also see 16 amateur boxers, nine of whom will appear here for the first time. All the boxers are in training.

Every division excepting the lightweight class will be represented. There will be heavyweights, light heavyweights, middleweights, welterweights, featherweights and bantamweights which should produce knockouts and scientific boxing. The little fellows, the 118-pounders, should provide the speed, while the heavyweights naturally will be considerably slower.

The card arranged follows: Sonny Horne, Miles, vs. Eddie Bynum, McKeesport, 147 pounds. Billy Reale, New Castle, vs. Art Adams, Pittsburgh, 160 pounds. Steve Ignath, Youngstown, vs. Carl Grasta, McKeesport, heavyweights. Larry Retardo, Ellwood City, vs. Bud Sullivan, Pittsburgh, 128 pounds.

Russell Baxter, New Castle, vs. Nick Bofa, Pittsburgh, 150 pounds. Jeffrey Dime, New Castle, vs. Johnny Saunders, McKeesport, 175 pounds.

Kerry Kiger, Pittsburgh, vs. Frankie Corty, Miles, 118 pounds. Lester Leasure, New Castle, vs. Johnny Burns, McKeesport, 147 pounds.

Nine of the 16 will be showing here for the first time, which should satisfy the man who wants to see "new faces" in the ring. Horne is a Golden Glove winner. Dime fought in the Sun-Tele diamond belt tourney and Baxter is a classy prospect.

The Jefferson Athletic club is accepting requests at 9025 now for ringside and reserved seat reservations.

All of the amateurs are in training and indications pointed to the Johnson triplets benefiting financially through the boxing game.

Aliquippa Trips High Reserves

The winning streak of the New Castle High Reserves came to an abrupt end last night at George Washington gym when the Aliquippa High Reserves won 26 to 22 in a preliminary game that was cut short due to the Aliquippa bus getting here late on account of icy roads.

The score was tied up at 9-9 at the end of the first half. Standout performers were Ciaza, Guinough and Zernich.

New Castle High Drops Opening To Aliquippa 27 To 23

New Castle Unable To Stave Off Second Half Rally By Visitors In Fast Battle

SECTION THREE NOW UNDER WAY

Unable to stave off a second half rally, New Castle High basketball team, went down to defeat last night at the George Washington High gym, at the hands of a hard fighting Aliquippa High team, 27 to 23. A crowd of over 500 braved a real wintery night to witness the game that started late. The game marked the opening of Section Three.

The Aliquippa team was late in getting to the Washington gym due to the icy condition of the highways. The main game did not start until after 9 o'clock. An altercation between Aliquippa players and a group of New Castle high students in the second period was quickly quelled by cooler heads, preventing what looked for a time like a free-for-all.

Locals Take Lead New Castle jumped into the lead at the very start of the game. Walls made a foul for the first point, then Thomas made a foul to put New Castle ahead 2 to 0. Cooper made a field goal and it was 4 to 0. Thomas made a field goal to make it 6 to 0 New Castle, before Bar of Aliquippa made a foul for the visitors first tally.

The first period ended with New Castle leading 9 to 4. The Steelers were held to a lone field goal by Belas, during the first period.

New Castle continued its fine play in the second period, piling in seven more points to two for the Aliquippa team, to make it 16 to 6 as the first half ended. Thomas, Cooper and Christopher supplied the New Castle points, with Bar the only Aliquippa player able to tally.

Aliquippa Rallies Just as New Castle dominated the play the first half, the visitors took over in the second half, to pile in 21 points to 7 for New Castle.

The third period began with New Castle ten points to the good. Bar made a field goal for the Lippemmen. Ferry made two in rapid order and the score was 16 to 12 New Castle. Fuderichs made a field goal and it was 16 to 14. Ross replaced Walls for New Castle. Schell a sub guard for the visitors made a field goal that tied the score at 16-16.

Cooper put New Castle in front 18 to 16 near the end of the third period, with a field goal. Ross made it 20 to 16 as the third period closed. Aliquippa was coming up fast. New Castle missed a number of shots under the basket.

Play Wild And Woolly The fourth period began with New Castle still out in front. Bar of the Aliquippa team was injured soon after the period began and had to be taken out of the game. Cooper made it 22 to 16, New Castle with a field goal. Belas made a two-point for the valleys to make it 22 to 18. Casoli made a field goal for a 22 to 20 count. Ferry made a foul and it was 22 to 21, in favor of New Castle.

With three minutes left to play, Ferry let go with a long leave that plopped in for the Aliquippa team ahead for the first time, at 23 to 22. Play became wild and woolly as the electric ticked off the minutes. Buell went in for Tomalelo for New Castle. Schell was put out on four personal fouls for the visitors. Christopher evened up the score at 23-23 with a foul.

There was just a minute and half left to play. Lee was seen in for Ross. Fuderichs had a foul and missed it. With the game just about a half minute from the finish, Ferry and Blich made field goals for the visitors that made it 27 to 23.

New Castle tried hard to protect its lead in the second half, but could not keep the visitors from piling in the points.

There were no outstanding stars in the game. Ferry, Thomas and Cooper shared the scoring honors.

Tragedy Mars Bessemer Game

New Wilmington Cheerleader Fatally Stricken; "Greyhounds" Win 46-28

Tragedy marred New Wilmington High's 46-28 Section 20 basketball victory over Bessemer High, Friday night on Bessemer floor.

During the brief first period intermission, Miss Mae Frew, one of New Wilmington's cheerleaders, took her place along the sidelines after she had helped to lead a cheer. Suddenly, she collapsed. She was carried to an adjoining room. An attending physician pronounced her dead. A heart attack is believed to have caused the young woman's death.

New Wilmington played flawlessly in the first period, piling up an 11-0 edge. At halftime, the towering "Greyhounds" sported a 27-13 lead. Bessemer managed to chop down the edge slightly, 32-30, at the close of the third period.

The victory, New Wilmington's eighth, pushed the "Greyhounds" into a deadlock for first place. In the preliminary game, the Bessemer Reserves chalked up a 28-16 victory over the college town seconds.

Ousts East Brook From
Section 20 Lead

In one of those nerve-rattling games, Wampum High emerged with a 25-23 Section 20 victory over East Brook High Friday night on East Brook floor.

The triumph, Wampum's first in loop competition, ousted the Brookers from first place. East Brook had copped a pair of wins against no losses until it bumped into the sturdy Wampum flippers.

Wampum piled up an 8-1 margin as the first stanza closed. The scoreboard showed a 14-8 Wampum edge at halftime. Rallying in the fourth period, the Brookers moved within striking distance as the final whistle sounded.

In the preliminary clash, Wampum's seconds eked out a 24-21 victory over the Brook reserves.

Punts, Passes and Whatnots:—To offer an alibi for a defeat is the cardinal sin of sportsmanship. Massillon lost to New Castle, Pa., 7-0 at a time when the team was riddled by an influenza epidemic. Just to show New Castle the beating didn't take, Massillon came back the next two seasons to win by scores of 52-6 and 46-0. To these two sentences, members of my little reading circle, formed part of a recently syndicated story which told the world about Paul Brown's incredible success at Massillon.

If Massillon's squad had been riddled by the epidemic, that week in 1937, it took detectives three long years to track down the mystery. Blah! New Castle defeated Massillon in 1937 because it was the better team that night. The "Canes" bottled Bobby Glass, the team's star, to a degree that bordered on monomania. In fact, it was so monomania, so far as Glass was concerned, that he became so infuriated that he started a fight. He was yanked out of the game for the infraction.

Massillon's star end was out of the game. The way New Castle played that night wouldn't have made any difference. Why the Ohioans are employing an excuse or losing one game in 60 is too

Pilot Fulfills Three Promises; Gets Title Shots

"I'll get you in there with the champion. Then, it's up to you," Herman Taylor, Philadelphia promoter, promised three fighters. And, he has fulfilled the promises.

Tommy Forte fought and defeated Lou Salica in an over-the-weight match. Now the pair is booked for a bantamweight title scrap in Philly next week.

Bob Montgomery, the lightweight, squared off against both Lew Jenkins and Sammy Angott, co-champs, and lost two close decisions.

Gus Dorazio, the third member, is tentatively billed for a shot at Joe Louis in February, although he has already fought Billy Conn, when the Pittsburgher was light heavyweight boss.

Struthers Junior High came to the Ben Franklin High floor on Friday afternoon and defeated the Mahoning Junior High team, 21 to 20, in a fast battle. At the half the Mahonings led 13 to 11.

Washington—Seven of his Georgetown football players have been drafted to play professional ball, but Coach Jack Hagerty says the league overlooked two of his best men. He didn't name them.

Homer Hazel Jr. and his brother Bill, sons of the former All-American star at Rutgers, have made names as University of Mississippi linemen.

Jack Smith of Manchester, England, for more than 30 years a professional boxing referee, legislator, and promoter, recently died at the age of 64 at Manchester.

complicated. Brown's achievements on the gridiron are self-explanatory. As a scholastic coach he heads the list in this book. The victory has netted New Castle columns and columns of priceless publicity. The alibi surely won't help the coach nor the school.

The injury bugaboo insists on chasing Lester "Bus" Reiber. The local blond case sensation, who has been derailed ever since he joined Duquesne university, it seems, is on the shelf again. Reiber is nursing a lame ankle. He saw action with the almost invincible Dukies earlier in the season and played stellar ball. Then the bugaboo knocked on Reiber's door for a return visit.

Basketball is such an industry that more than a half million balls were manufactured last year. The Australia "point and round" system as advocated by several of the country's top scribes, will be given a trial during next Tuesday's wrestling show in Youngstown. The groan and grunt game needs a much more potent "hypo."

Mike Jacobs really got his foot into it when he tried to blast that Bettina-Christoforoff scrap in Cleveland. Some of the top boxing men in the land struck back with "haymakers."

Ted Williams, who drew down $4,000 for clubbing in the American Association, and jumped to the $14,000 mark as a Red Soxer, is out for another pay boost, according to The Sporting News. Most of the writers state that Bill Tilden, the tennis czar, is 47 and 48 years old. During an air interview Tilden, who should know, said he's 46.

Claude Passeau, the Cubs ace pitcher, has signed on the dotted line.

Ellwood Loses Opening Game To Beaver Falls High

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 11.—In the opening Section 3 basketball game last night at Lincoln gym, the Ellwood high school basketball team bowed to Beaver Falls by a 31 to 20 score. A large crowd of spectators attended the contest.

Neither team was impressive in the first period with Ellwood scoring three points to the winners' four and half-time Beaver Falls led 13 to 10. A last half rally by the valley crew won the game. The absence of Seeth, Ellwood's center, was felt. He is out because of a leg injury received in the football season.

Tammara was high scorer for the local with nine points from three baskets and three fouls. Veltri led the Falls outfit with 13 points.

The Beaver Falls Reserves kicked the Ellwood Reserves 17 to 13 in the preliminary game. In the afternoon the Ellwood Juniors defeated the Freedom Juniors 22 to 16.

Next Friday night Ellwood goes to Ambridge.

Classes Attend Baptist Services

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 11.—The heavy snow fall last evening just before service time which covered icy walks and streets did not hinder a large crowd from attending the revival services being held in the First Baptist church. Three classes from the Sunday school attended in groups which added greatly to the interest of the meeting. The Doremus, Dorcas and Young Married Peoples Bible class were there in attendance last night.

There will be no service tonight but services will be held at the regular hours on Sunday, with Bible school at 9:45, with J. D. Sartwell superintendent in charge. The morning worship service will be in charge of the pastor, with a message by the evangelist, L. James Kindig. At 7:00 Mrs. Kindig will meet all senior young people and the juniors will meet with Mrs. Osterhouse. The evening service, with music and sermon by the evangelist, will begin at 7:30.

These interesting and helpful services will continue each night next week at 7:45, as well as the children's meeting each afternoon at 4:00, and Senior Young People each evening at 7:15. Prayer meetings are held in the ladies' parlor each evening at 7:15 and at 10:00 a. m. on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

NEW YORK, Jan. 11.—The stock market put in an irregular performance today. It was mixed from the start and moved narrowly to the close. Turnover was under 400,000 shares.

While the main body of stocks marked time, there was a flurry of activity in some low-priced issues. Among these were Willys Overland common and preferred, Graham Paige and B. T. and B. Q. T. Railroad shares, prominent in the last two days were quiet and irregular with the rest. There was some pressure on steel shares after the priorities move. U. S. Steel lost almost a point. The others were down small fractions.

Outside of the low-priced stocks, the auto sector was quiet with General Motors lower. U. S. Rubber preferred issues gained a point. I. Case lost over a point in farm implements.

Few changes of consequence occurred elsewhere as in the oils, utilities, mail orders, coppers and chemicals.

News Briefs

From City Hall

"Boys who break street lights can expect to be punished," said Chief of Police W. G. McMullen today following reports that several street lights were broken during the past several days.

Several persons reported to have violated parking regulations today were excused from payment of a fine when Mayor Charles B. Mayne held traffic court. They had unintentionally broken the law, they asserted.

J. Clyde Gillilan has received a building permit from the city to construct a one-story concrete block for a service station at 46 East street at a reported cost of $4,000.

Some persons with an appetite for pie broke into a garage at 1023 Cunningham avenue and from the truck owned by Benny Paladine, 920 Cunningham avenue, stole $23 worth of pie, he reported today to police.

No conferences were held this week between railway officials and city officials looking toward the substitution of busses for street cars here. City officials, however, are gathering data concerning the proposal.

Chief of Police W. G. McMullen today said signs explaining parking regulations in Neshannock avenue between East and North street have been erected and violation of the police order will result in a fine.

Italians Announce Damage To British Aircraft Carriers

(International News Service) ROME, Jan. 11.—German and Italian planes scored bomb hits on three British aircraft carriers, a cruiser and a destroyer, the Italian high command announced today.

The high command's war bulletin also stated that enemy aircraft bombed the port of Palermo in Sicily.

The British warships, said the bulletin, were hit while cruising through the Sicily canal.

German planes hit one aircraft carrier and a destroyer while Italian planes hit two aircraft carriers and a cruiser.

The communique was the first high command announcement detailing activities of German planes which have arrived at Italian bases to reinforce the Fascist campaign against Britain in the Mediterranean.

German Junkers Plane Shot Down

(International News Service) LONDON, Jan. 11.—Germany has lost her first bomber to an American fighter aircraft, flown by British pilots, the air ministry announced today.

Flying Grumman single-seater fighters, three naval pilots attacked and shot down a Junkers 88, the announcement said. The four occupants of the Nazi plane were captured after they crashed in a bog.

The three Grumman were returning from patrol when they spotted the German bomber. The flight leader already had landed, but immediately took off again and joined the other two planes when the Junkers was sighted.

After the first burst of fire from the American planes, the Nazi craft was enveloped in smoke, and the plane began to lose height. The trio of planes followed the enemy bomber to the ground to insure that the German pilots were not employing a ruse. They returned to their airfield after the ship was seen to crash.

State Liquor Board Asks Dismissal Of Dealers Complaint

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Jan. 11.—The Dauphin county commonwealth court today considered a plea by the State Liquor Control Board to dismiss as "vague, indefinite, uncertain and defective" a bill in equity challenging the constitutionality of Pennsylvania's $80,000,000 liquor monopoly.

The complaint was filed November 25 by John P. Crane, operator of a Philadelphia liquor establishment and president of the Philadelphia Retail Liquor Dealers Association. The liquor dealers seek to nullify the law so as to permit them to buy their liquor direct from the distillers, rather than the state stores, and to sell bottled goods.

The liquor board's answer was filed by Deputy Attorney General Horace A. Segelbaum who pointed out that the "Appellate Courts of Pennsylvania have already sustained the constitutionality of acts of assembly regulating the liquor traffic."

SEE HOW THIS SMART COUPLE SOLVES ONE WINTER WORRY

Mrs. J.: "Remember, dear, how frozen water pipes last winter caused so many families extra expense and discomfort?"

Mr. J.: "I sure do. Frozen pipes cost one man I know sixty dollars—they burst and ruined rugs and everything."

Mrs. J.: "Well, it will soon be winter again . . . and our basement gets mighty cold at night. I'm worried about our pipes freezing."

Mr. J.: "Guess I'd better stuff the cracks around the cellar doors and windows. And wrap all exposed pipes."

Mrs. J.: "Look! See what today's paper says to do as an added safeguard on very cold nights—"

Mr. J.: "Say, that's a swell idea—on freezing nights letting water trickle all night from one faucet." (A quart a minute is enough.)

Mr. J.: "And the paper said this precaution costs just a few pennies a night—and it may save us some BIG repair bills. I'm for it!"

Mrs. J.: "That settles one winter worry. And I could buy a new outfit on what just one burst pipe would cost us."
